USING THE URAC MARKETING GUIDE

Congratulations!

As a URAC-accredited organization, you join a select group of industry leaders that meet rigorous standards for health care quality, safety and accountability. The URAC accreditation or certification seal validates your status as an outcomes-driven health care organization committed to achieving high standards of care. Highlighting URAC accreditation or certification in your marketing and communication material enhances your credibility and brand equity among consumers, payers, providers, legislators, regulators and others.

The URAC Client Marketing Guide helps you promote your accreditation or certification status while maintaining the integrity of the URAC seal and related URAC program information.

Although URAC does not require you to submit materials related to or containing information about URAC accreditation/certification for our review, your organization will benefit from using our expertise if you have questions regarding these marketing guidelines.

If you have any questions related to the guide and its usage, please contact your Client Relations Manager or the URAC Marketing Team. Email us at marketing@urac.org.
THE URAC ACCREDITATION OR CERTIFICATION SEAL

The URAC seal is an easily recognizable indication of your merit as an accredited or certified health care organization. The seal is reserved for the exclusive use of URAC-accredited or certified clients.

We encourage you to display the seal prominently on your website, as well as in print and digital communications, to demonstrate your commitment to delivering high-quality health care services.

Accreditation and Certification Seal Specifications

URAC-accredited or certified organizations should display a valid, dated URAC accreditation or certification seal on your company website. The seal contains a hyperlink to your listing on the URAC Directory of Accredited Organizations or the URAC Directory of Certified Organizations. With a “click-to-verify” accreditation or certification seal, you ensure that anyone visiting your website can easily recognize and verify your status.

Your organization’s seal is located on your Certification Record in AccreditNet 3.0 which provides a more versatile form for seal generation. The HTML code provided includes the URAC seal image, the program for which you have been accredited/certified, the expiration date of the accreditation/certification and an embedded link that will send people to your organization’s directory information on URAC’s website. Copy the code provided to Notepad and save. Provide the file to your website administrator for incorporation on your website. This HTML code provides your website administrator with the flexibility to conform the image and text to your website’s style.

The “click-to-verify” seal allows your stakeholders and website visitors to verify your accreditation or certification by redirecting them directly your organization’s details in URAC’s online Directory. If you need a JPG version of your organization’s seal, you can contact your Client Relations Manager or email us at seals@urac.org.

Your URAC seal must always have all three of the following elements:

1) The seal itself,
2) Your accreditation or certification type, and
3) The expiration date

It is not a valid seal without all three components.

URAC Seal Usage Guidelines

- URAC accreditation and certification seals comply with our brand colors. Do not use different color variations, resize or distort the components of the seal or place it on a patterned background.

- The JPG image file does not support a transparent background; for best results, insert the seal image on a white background.

- If you have multiple URAC accreditations or certifications, display each individual URAC seal separately with its accreditation/certification name and expiration date; do not list multiple URAC accreditations/certifications on the same seal.

- Do not create your own URAC accreditation or certification seal.

We encourage URAC-accredited and certified organizations to display their URAC seal on marketing and communications items, such as:

- Advertising
- Annual reports
- Billboards/signage
- Branded items
- Business cards
- Conference or event signage
- Email blasts
- Email signatures
- Internal communications
- Letterhead

- Marketing/sales brochures
- Newsletters
- Posters
- Printed materials
- Presentations
- Press releases
- Proposals
- Social media posts
- Websites

If you’re not sure how to display your accreditation or certification seal or have questions or concerns about inserting the image, just ask! The URAC team is happy to assist you. Email us at seals@urac.org.
Now that you’ve earned URAC accreditation, consider adding “URAC” and “accredited” to your SEO keyword list.

URAC-accredited organizations or those with certification should display a valid, dated URAC seal applicable to program status on your company website. Consider placing the seal on your home page, an awards page or an ‘about us’ or ‘company information’ section.

As a URAC best practice, please hyperlink the seal to your listing in the URAC Directory of Accredited Organizations or the URAC Directory of Certified Organizations as appropriate. With a “click-to-verify” seal, you ensure that anyone visiting your website can easily recognize and verify your status.

If you have multiple URAC accreditations or certifications, display each individual URAC seal with its unique accreditation/certification name and expiration date.

While you are not required to list your URAC-accredited locations alongside the seal, please specify which locations have URAC accreditation or certification. For example, if you place the URAC seal on your website home page, you don’t need to list locations that are URAC accredited next to the seal. However, for any web pages that list your site locations, you should clearly indicate which ones are URAC accredited or certified.

As part of your client agreement, the seal and hyperlink should be posted to your website within 30 days of achieving full accreditation or certification.

See the next section for information on how to best describe your URAC accreditation or certification.
DIGITAL AND PRINT COMMUNICATIONS

Social Media
URAC encourages you to use social media channels to promote and publicize your accreditation/certification; this can help build brand awareness and distinguish your organization. The same guidelines that govern use of the seal, URAC name and logo and URAC-associated products also apply to social media channels.

URAC has a reliable, well-balanced social media presence. We suggest you follow us on all our social media channels: X (formerly Twitter), Facebook, LinkedIn and YouTube.

We post a congratulations message on social media for every new and reaccredited client within six weeks of when the accreditation or certification goes into effect. We will tag your organization in the announcement. We invite you to share this content on your social media distribution channels or use it to deploy your own campaign.

We also post trending news and valuable industry insights regularly via social media and on our website that your organization may find useful and worth resharing among your followers.

To help get you started, here are some draft social media post examples:

X (formerly Twitter) Example: [Your Company] is proud to have earned @urac accreditation for #SpecialtyPharmacy. #URAC

Facebook Example: [Your Company] is proud to have earned @URAC.org accreditation for #SpecialtyPharmacy. The designation demonstrates [company name] is dedicated to high-quality care and patient safety. #URAC

LinkedIn Example: [Your Company] is proud to have earned @URAC #accreditation for #SpecialtyPharmacy. The designation demonstrates [company name] is dedicated to high-quality care and patient safety and that we strive to continually improve our pharmacy services. #URAC
Press Releases
Please use the press release template on page 13 to announce your organization has officially earned accreditation and/or certification. Using the template protects the integrity and value of the URAC brand and prevents misrepresentation. It also protects you—using approved language that best represents your achievement ensures the information is verified and accurate.

If you have questions about the press release template or usage, please contact your Client Relations Manager or the Marketing team at marketing@urac.org.
How to Describe Your URAC Accreditation or Certification

You can use the URAC Press Release template on page 13 to announce your accreditation or certification status.

When describing your URAC accreditation or certification, you should specify what type of URAC accreditation or certification your organization has earned in your description. For example:

- [Your Company] is URAC accredited for Specialty Pharmacy.
- [Your Company] is accredited by URAC for Specialty Pharmacy.

The following information about our organization and the accreditation process is also approved for public use.

About URAC

Founded in 1990 as a non-profit organization, URAC is the independent leader in promoting health care quality and patient safety through renowned accreditation programs. URAC develops its evidence-based standards in collaboration with a wide array of stakeholders and industry experts. The company’s portfolio of accreditation and certification programs spans the health care industry, addressing health equity, workplace mental health, health care management and operations, pharmacies, telehealth, health plans, medical practices and more. URAC accreditation is a symbol of excellence for organizations to showcase their validated commitment to quality and accountability. www.urac.org

Language Describing the URAC Accreditation Process

The URAC accreditation process facilitates learning and continuous quality improvement across an organization. It is not a simple checklist; rather, it serves as a flexible framework that enables organizations to assess and improve clinical care and program operations.

URAC’s process requires applicants to submit comprehensive policies, procedures, workflows and other organizational information. URAC’s accreditation process validates compliance with nationally recognized health care standards and supports improvements and innovation in care management and service delivery for the long term.
Language Describing URAC Accreditation Standards

URAC relies on a multidisciplinary advisory group to guide standards development, establish benchmarks and inform revisions. This group includes national leaders across the health care spectrum as well as our Board of Directors, Standards Committees and other industry experts. The standards are then circulated for public comment and beta-tested before their release. This broad, inclusive process assures that URAC’s standards promote industry best practices.

Marketing Practices

All references to URAC must only use the name “URAC” to describe our organization. There is no longer “unabbreviated” version of the company name. Using previous naming conventions for URAC is prohibited.

- URAC does not offer global accreditation or certification for all aspects of an organization. Rather, URAC accreditations/certifications are specific sets of standards applicable to a certain function or set of functions. Accredited or certified companies must always refer to the specific URAC standards and locations for which they were accredited. Example: “XYZ Company’s Georgia PPO received Health Plan Accreditation from URAC.”

- When citing URAC accreditation/certification, the reference must be specific to the program. For example, if your PPO is accredited, but your HMO is not, only the PPO may be cited. Example: “Our PPO has earned URAC accreditation for Health Network.”

- URAC will not disclose final review scores for individual organizations; however, when describing URAC accreditation or certification, organizations may share their scores at their own discretion.

- Organizations with URAC accreditation or certification may not claim that they “exceed” national standards or that they “exceed” URAC standards. Nor can they claim they have met the “highest” standards in the industry when referring to URAC accreditation.
MARKETING AND COMMUNICATIONS LANGUAGE

• If some of your organization's eligible sites (locations) are URAC accredited or certified, and others are not, you must indicate which locations are URAC accredited/certified.

• If your company's accreditation or certification has lapsed or been suspended, you may not mention URAC or URAC accreditation/certification in any communications until your accreditation or certification is valid and active.

• URAC seals must be immediately removed from all materials once an organization's accreditation has expired.
LOGO AND OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

Use of the URAC Logo
URAC is the only organization authorized to use the URAC logo. The URAC logo is protected by trademark and cannot be reproduced without the written permission of URAC’s Marketing leadership.

Noncompliance Penalties
Failure to comply with marketing guidelines as outlined in this document and your client agreement with URAC may result in revocation of an organization's accreditation status. URAC reserves the right to determine if marketing and communication material is misleading, false or misrepresentative. In such cases, URAC may request an organization to withdraw advertising, URAC seals or other materials from distribution immediately or to publish a retraction or clarification at your expense.

Final Important Information

- Do not share URAC’s proprietary and confidential standards without URAC’s permission. Other organizations can access copies of our standards at www.urac.org/store.

- URAC does not have a “preferred vendor” designation. URAC does not refer to any business as a “vendor.”

This achievement demonstrates to members, providers and care partners that [company name] meets high standards in network management, member services and communication and utilization management. Organizations that earn this accreditation demonstrate a commitment to continuous quality improvement and an impressively high level of service for their members,” said URAC President and CEO, Shawn Griffin, MD.

Mental Health Parity

“The federal government has made it clear that they are keeping a close eye on payers to ensure that mental health and substance use disorder treatment coverage is equivalent to that of medical and surgical care,” said URAC President and CEO, Shawn Griffin, MD. “We are proud to recognize [company name] for demonstrating their sustained commitment to parity for all types of care provided.”
Specialty Pharmacy

“Now more than ever, specialty pharmacies are an essential part of the patient care team and patient experience. URAC congratulates [company name] on their achievement of Specialty Pharmacy Accreditation. This achievement demonstrates excellence in pharmacy operations, product handling, patient education and patient management. When an organization achieves URAC accreditation, they demonstrate their commitment to improving their quality of care, which is important to patients, providers and payers,” said URAC’s President and CEO Shawn Griffin, MD.

Mail Service Pharmacy

“Mail service pharmacies provide a critical connection for patients receiving specialized pharmaceutical care,” said URAC’s President and CEO Shawn Griffin, MD. “URAC’s Mail Service Pharmacy Accreditation recognizes excellence in the areas of pharmacy operations, medication distribution and patient service and communication, all of which are valuable components of the patient care experience. We are proud to recognize [company name] for achieving URAC’s Mail Service Pharmacy accreditation.”

Health Utilization Management

Health care professionals know that utilization management is an important component to ensure that patients receive the most appropriate care for their particular needs. URAC’s Health Utilization Management Accreditation is a demonstration of excellence in reviewer qualifications, efficient timelines, appeals and drug utilization management. We are proud to recognize [company name] for achieving URAC’s Health Utilization Management Accreditation,” said URAC’s President and CEO Shawn Griffin, MD.

Clinically Integrated Networks

Clinically Integrated Networks are the future of health care as they promote the best in provider-to-provider collaboration to improve patient care. URAC is proud to recognize [organization name] for its achievement of Clinically Integrated Network accreditation,” said URAC President and CEO, Shawn Griffin, MD. “This accreditation reflects excellence in the areas of health information technology, care coordination and population health.
Independent Review Organization/Independent Medical Examination

“URAC’s [Independent Review Organization/Independent Medical Examination] Accreditation validates that third-party organizations providing medical determinations are committed to a fair and impartial peer review process for all parties, including patients and physicians,” said URAC’s President and CEO Shawn Griffin, MD. “We are proud to recognize [organization name] for maintaining high standards in the areas of credentialing reviewers, review timelines and decision notification.”

Health Equity

“Disparities in outcomes are some of the crucial areas that need to be addressed and remediated to improve our health care system. We offer our congratulations to [company name] for achieving URAC’s Health Equity Accreditation. Earning this accreditation is a testament to [company’s] commitment to reducing disparities in the populations they serve. This URAC accreditation reflects an organization’s commitment to equity in health care,” said URAC President and CEO, Shawn Griffin, MD.
